March 3rd, 2023 (-$79) DRC Will I ever learn?

By disciplined_daytrader · March 3, 2023

Well like a fucking idiot guess who goes short when we are above vwap, above massive prior resistance, bullish on every timeframe MACD?? Yeah thats me, I go short when the market is rallying and I go long when the market is dumping. Its truly a glorious strategy if you have down syndrome <3

Options

1st Trade: Micro Continuation Intraday Reversal (Supply Zone)

- I mean just LOL what the fuck is this price action. I guess 10 cent breakouts are the best way to go for the trade hahahhaha. Went short expecting the supply zone to hold because it did 33 times in the past week but nope not today which is also the first day i decided to go back to shorting. Its really cool how the market just knows you and it knows how you think and it knows when you are going to think like a retard and it just goes out and fucks u in the ass. its so interesting how it just knows how to do that. wild

Futures

2nd and 3rd trades: Micro Continuation Intraday Reversal

- Revenge pissed of fomo trading because I was wrong. boohoo u fuckin pussy. this is trading. if you are wrong congrats. go ahead and join every trader to ever exist.

WHY THE FUCK AM I SHORTING THE DAY WE FINALLY BOUNCE AND THE ENTIRE WEEK I WENT LONG

I went long all fucking week and I mean every fucking day. We broke lows and I went long at least 4 times this week and I made money on all of them because I knew that the pressure was to the long side since sellers were unable to break this lower. Why did I go short on the day it finally did what I thought it would do all fucking week? When will I learn how to just go with the fucking momentum. It is better late than never and for some reason I only want that first fucking entry point and once its over all I do is look for ways to go against the trend. I dont understand what it will take for me to get this lesson. Guess I just need to keep losing money until I learn. GL to me