

October 4th, 2022 (-$150)

By disciplined_daytrader · October 4, 2022

TL;DR

In this blog post, the author reflects on a challenging trading day, expressing frustration over losses and questioning their trading skills. They detail four trades, all of which were based on trend reversals, but ultimately resulted in a significant loss of $150.

lol goodbye to 3x my last green day. Will trading ever get easier? or am I just a complete fucking dumb cunt? no idea

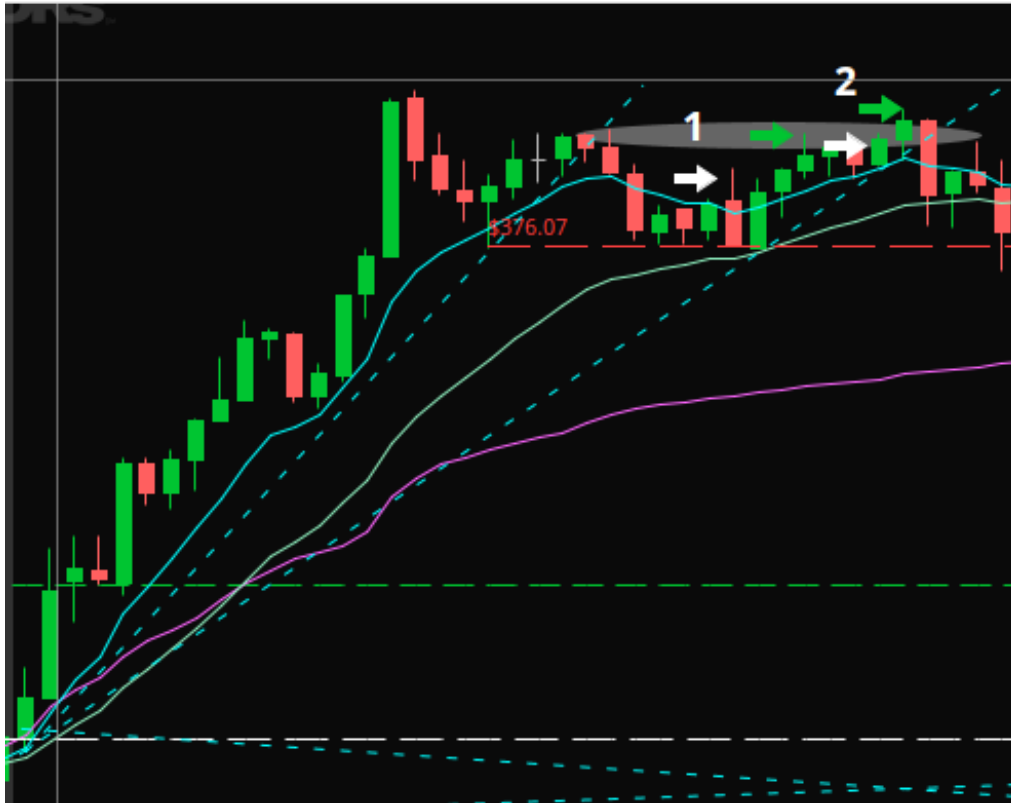

1d:2m

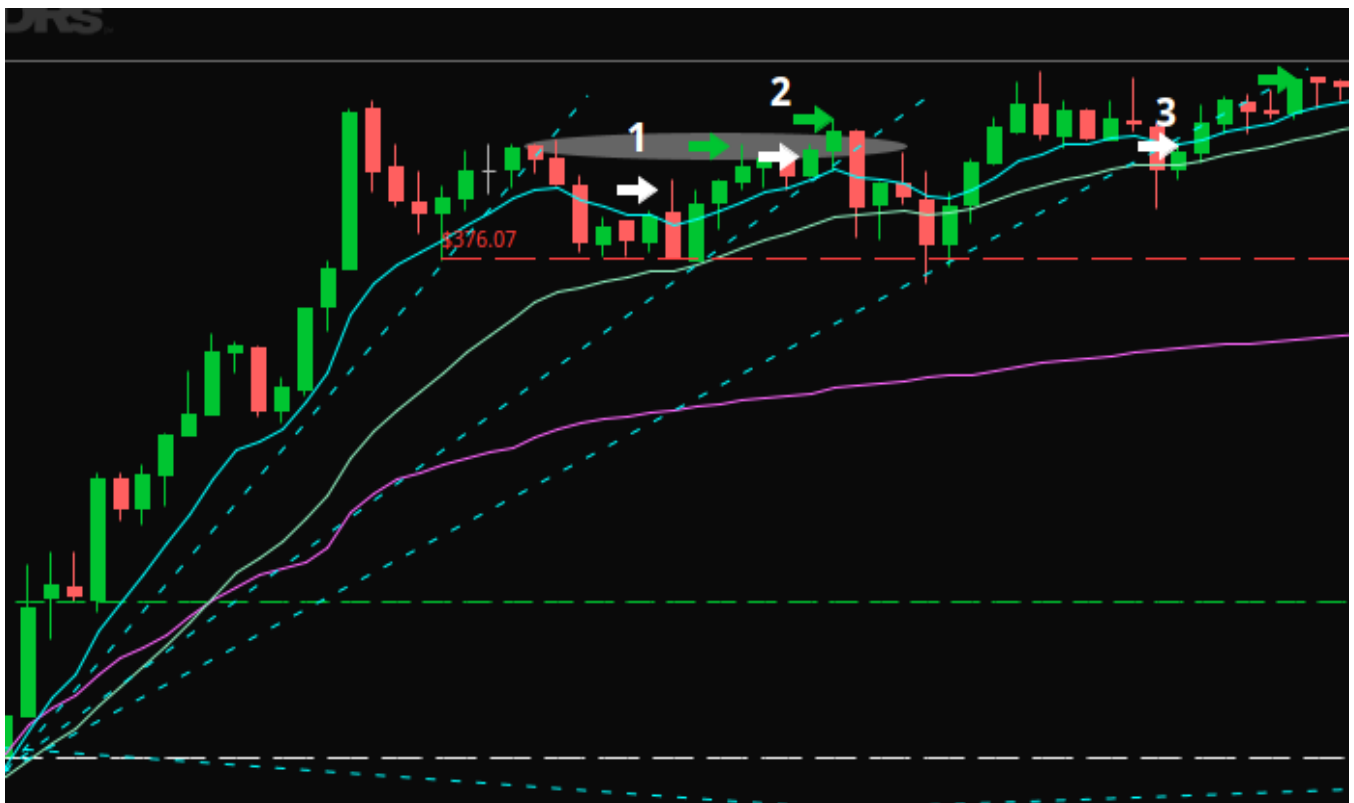

1st Trade: Trend Reversal

2nd Trade: Trend Reversal

3rd Trade: Trend Reversal

4th Trade: Trend Reversal

FAQ

What happened on October 4th, 2022?

The author experienced a trading loss of $150, reflecting on their performance and skills.

What types of trades did the author make?

The author made four trades, all based on trend reversals.

How did the author feel about their trading performance?

The author expressed frustration and self-doubt regarding their trading abilities.

Is trading easy according to the author?

The author questions whether trading will ever become easier for them.

What was the outcome of the author's trades?

All four trades resulted in losses, contributing to the overall loss of $150.