WAFU & Chinese Online Education Stocks Flying!?!?? (Is It Worth Trading?)

By winkler · June 11, 2020

TL;DR

This blog post discusses the recent performance of WAFU and Chinese online education stocks, highlighting a 6% gain based on average position size. It emphasizes the importance of trading according to the current market environment rather than personal expectations.

6% day based on our avg position size, not a wild day but can't complain. Always trade the environment you're in and not the one you want!

https://youtu.be/ZpWWSdD8p5g

FAQ

What is WAFU?

WAFU is a stock that has recently gained attention in the market, particularly in relation to Chinese online education.

Why are Chinese online education stocks significant?

Chinese online education stocks are significant due to their rapid growth and the increasing demand for online learning solutions.

What does trading the environment mean?

Trading the environment means adapting your trading strategies to current market conditions rather than relying on personal biases or expectations.

How did WAFU perform recently?

WAFU experienced a 6% gain based on average position size, indicating a positive trend in its stock performance.

Is it a good time to invest in WAFU?

While the recent performance is positive, potential investors should conduct thorough research and consider market conditions before investing.